

Survey Publisher

software from

Survey Publisher is a software tool for designing questionnaires, capturing the data from responses, and then analysing and reporting on that data.

It is a Windows based product and is Web-enabled should you wish to post your questions on-line and download the answers. In this case the survey will be hosted on the RTIS server.

Alternatively you can generate paper questionnaires and then input responses manually.

Design - like using a word processor but cleverer - as you lay out your questions the software creates a database for later analysis

Capture - input the answers or download from the Web

Analyse - slice the data anyway you like with a powerful List Browser

Report - generate tables and charts from data
